

Discovery

Representing Yourself in an Eviction Case

How to Get Information to Prepare for Your Trial

Discovery can be an important part of your eviction case. It is a way to get information from your landlord to help you prove your case. When you request Discovery, your landlord must answer questions in writing and provide you documents about your eviction case. Your landlord must answer your questions in writing under oath.

Discovery also postpones your eviction trial for two weeks if you give a copy of your Discovery request to the court and to your landlord (or landlord's attorney) on or before your Monday Answer Date.

If you do not request Discovery, you must go to court on the Original Trial Date listed on your Summons and Complaint.

How to Use Discovery

Fill Out the Form in This Booklet

Fill in the top of the Discovery form the same way you filled in the top of your Answer form in Booklet 3. To decide what information will help your case, read over your Answer. Ask questions and request documents that will help you prove your side of the story.

As you go through the Discovery form, check the box next to every question that you want answered and every document that you want sent to you. If you have more questions or requests for documents, write them in the blank spaces at the end of the Discovery form.

In this Discovery form, certain standard questions and documents are checked because tenants would want to request these in every case. Make sure you do not ask more than 30 questions. There is no limit on the number of document requests.

Deliver Discovery by Your Answer Date

You must get the Discovery requests to the court and to your landlord (or your landlord's lawyer) with your Answer on or before the Monday Answer Date. If you mail your Discovery on the Answer Date, it will not get there in time. When you are finished completing your Discovery form:

1. Fill in your name and address. Circle whether you are mailing or delivering these forms.
2. Make two copies of the Discovery form. Do not include these instructions.
3. Deliver the original to the court and 1 copy to your landlord or your landlord's lawyer. Keep 1 copy for yourself.

Make Sure You Get Your Discovery Responses

Your landlord must give you Discovery responses and documents within 10 days from the date the landlord receives your request. If your landlord does not or does not provide information you requested, you can ask the judge to order your landlord to answer Discovery. The last 3 pages of this booklet is a Compel Discovery form you can use to ask a judge to postpone the court hearing until the landlord fulfills your Discovery request.

Prepare for Court

When you receive the Discovery responses back, read your landlord's answers and look at all documents carefully. Look for statements or information that back up your case. For example, your landlord may admit that you offered to pay rent, or that she knew about bad conditions in your apartment, or that she did not put your security deposit in a special bank account. Also watch for contradictions in your landlord's story. For example, your landlord may deny knowing about bad conditions, but state that she was in your apartment or hired people to do repairs.

Use Discovery at Your Trial

At the court hearing, tell the judge or jury if your landlord, in her Discovery responses, admitted facts important to the case. You may also ask the landlord the same questions you asked in Discovery. If the landlord gives a different answer, point out the difference to the judge or jury. You can also ask the judge to look at documents that support your side of the story, including the landlord's Discovery responses themselves.

Compelling Discovery

What can you do if your landlord does not answer your Request for Discovery?

Your landlord must give you his/her responses to your Discovery within 10 days after receiving it.

If your landlord does not answer your Request for Discovery, or gives you incomplete answers or objects to your request, you may file a Motion to Compel Discovery.

In a Motion to Compel, you can ask the court to do a number of things, including dismiss the case, prohibit the landlord from opposing your claims, order the landlord to provide complete answers, and continue (or postpone) the trial until the landlord does so. You must file this Motion in court within 5 business days after the date Discovery responses were due.

If your case is in Housing Court and you do not think that the landlord's responses to Discovery were complete or responsive, you may have to provide the Court with more detailed information. Ask the Court Clerk if there are any special requirements.

This motion, which you must file in court within 5 business days after the date Discovery responses were due, asks the judge to order the landlord to completely answer Discovery and to continue (or postpone) the trial until the landlord does so.

To figure out when to file and serve this document if your landlord fails to give you discovery responses, fill in the following dates:

1. Date your landlord got your discovery requests: _____
2. Date that is 10 calendar days after your landlord got your discovery requests which is your landlord's deadline to respond: _____
3. Date that is 5 business days after your landlord's deadline to response. This is the date that is your deadline to file the Motion to Compel Discovery: _____

How to Make the Motion to Compel Discovery

- Fill in the spaces at the top of the motion the same as you did in the Answer and Request for Discovery forms.
- Write in the date you mailed or delivered your Discovery to the landlord or the landlord's lawyer.
- Check the box(es) that describe what your landlord failed to do.
- On the bottom of the form, circle whether you delivered or mailed a copy of this motion to your landlord (or the landlord's lawyer). Fill in the date, your name, address, and telephone number. Sign the motion.
- Make 2 copies. Deliver the original to court, and 1 copy to your landlord (or his/her lawyer). Keep 1 copy for yourself.

IMPORTANT: You must get the form to the court and your landlord (or the landlord's lawyer) within 5 business days of the date the answers to your Discovery were due.

Prepare for Court

The hearing on your Motion to Compel Discovery will be held on the Rescheduled Trial Date. Be prepared to go ahead with your eviction trial on that date since there is always a chance that the judge will not order your landlord to answer Discovery or postpone the trial date.

When your case is called, be sure to tell the clerk that you have filed a Motion to Compel Discovery. When you go before the judge, tell the judge that you requested Discovery, and that your landlord did not answer (or did not answer fully). Tell the judge why you need the information.

You can ask the judge to do a number of things, including dismiss the case, enter judgment in your favor, prohibit the landlord from opposing your claims, or require the landlord to provide full answers and reschedule the eviction trial until after the landlord does. The judge will make the decision.

If you win this motion, your landlord will be ordered to answer your Discovery and the eviction trial should be postponed.

If you lose this motion, you will have the eviction trial that day. Do the best you can. If you lose at trial, you may have the right to appeal, and/or to ask the judge for more time to move. See Booklet 7: Appeals and Booklet 8: Stay.
